WOMEN'S NATIONAL SELECTOR

The Senior Ireland Women's team currently sit within the ICC's top ten ranked teams across both T20 and ODI formats. With qualification secured for the ICC T20 World Cup in June 2026 and participation in the fourth edition of the International Women's Championship commencing in July 2026, the future is exceedingly bright for a predominantly young and developing squad.

In 2026-27 Cricket Ireland will employ 23 female cricketers with a full-time Team Management Unit led by Head Coach Lloyd Tennant assigned to support the player pool.

Cricket Ireland is seeking a Women's National Selector to chair the Women's National Selection panel and help ensure Ireland selects its best players to take to the world stage and continue the progress that has been made following the professionalising of the Senior Team.

The successful candidate will report to the CI Director of High Performance.

The position is a part-time paid role for an initial three-year term and will require the candidate to:

- Attend Super Series and International matches in Ireland to observe and assess the player pool (approx. 12-15 days per summer)
- Chair selection meetings for Senior Team and Development squads (approx eight per annum)
- Attend meetings to review player/team performance
- Involvement in the annual player contracting process

Candidates who meet the criteria and are shortlisted will be required to attend an interview.

If you require any further information about the role, you can set up a call with the Director of High Performance – please email graeme.west@cricketireland.ie to arrange this.
